TRAFFIC ADVISORY

Traffic Modifications for the Ravens' Home Opener Against the New York Jets

The Baltimore City Department of Transportation announced the traffic and parking modifications in effect for the Ravens' home opener against the New York Jets on Sunday, September 16, 2007 at 4:15 p.m. at M&T Bank Stadium. Please be advised that all parking restrictions and residential permit parking regulations in the vicinity of the stadium will be strictly enforced. Ticket holders who do not have a parking permit for any of the stadium lots are strongly encouraged to use the metro, light rail or carpool. Fans choosing to drive to the game should park at commercial lots and avoid area neighborhoods.

Parking Control Agents will enforce all posted parking restrictions for the safety of everyone, and vehicles parked in violation will be ticketed and towed. Impound lots will remain open 2 hours after the conclusion of the game. Citizens with questions concerning the location of their vehicle should contact a police officer or call (410) 396-3050.

The following traffic modifications will be in affect beginning at 12:00 noon Sunday, September 16, 2007 due to construction on the Russell Street Viaduct.

- 2 lanes north bound on Russell Street will be open until game time.

- 1 lane south bound on Russell Street will be open until game time.
- At the start of the 4th quarter, 3 lanes south bound on Russell Street will be open.

Motorists should be aware that special parking restrictions will be in effect in the vicinity of the stadium. In addition, the Department of Transportation's Special Traffic Enforcement Officers (STEO's) will assist the Baltimore City Police with the movement of traffic in the downtown area.
